

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image forming apparatus of the present invention for forming an image based on input image data includes 5 an encryption and decryption unit that encrypts image data using an encryption key prior to the storage of the input image data onto an image storage unit, and decrypts the encrypted image data subsequent to the reading of the encrypted image data from the image 10 storage unit.